Our Education Program

The goal of ASPN PAIN 2025 is to provide a platform for learning the most up-to-date, evidence-based spine and pain treatments. This includes education on basic science, translational medicine, anatomy and physiology, therapeutic mechanisms of action, novel techniques, and evolving technologies. Faculty members are selected for their experience within their respective specialties. Information and data presented will be on-label. The format will include individual lectures, panel discussions, abstract presentations, late-breaking research, and cases - all focused on improving patient care, access to therapies, and overall outcomes. The annual ASPN 2025 Conference will continue to present an opportunity for clinician training in a hands-on lab.
